SOCIAL SECURITY AND MUNICIPAL AID TAX ACT REGULATIONS.

1. TITLE.

1. These regulations may be cited as the “Social Security and Municipal Aid Tax Act Regulations.”

2-1. In these regulations, unless the context otherwise requires, section 2 of the Act shall apply.

2-2. “Act” means “Social Security and Municipal Aid Tax Act.”

2-3. The following expressions when used either in the Act or in these regulations shall have the meaning as assigned herein.

2-4. “Food products” includes cereals and cereal products, milk and milk products, meat and meat products, fish and fish products, eggs and egg products, spices and salt, sugar and sugar products other than candy and confections, coffee and coffee substitutes, tea, cocoa and cocoa products other than candy and confections, but does not include spirituous, malt, or vinous liquors, soft drinks, sodas, or beverages such as are ordinarily dispensed at bars

"Soft drinks" means non-alcoholic beverages consisting of flavouring and (or) sweetening and carbonated water, and shall include soda, sparkling, and mineral waters, whether sold in bottles or by the glass and whether they are manufactured or prepared at soda-fountains.

2-13. "Railway rolling-stock" includes rolling-stock operating on street-railways and interurban lines, but does not include trolley-buses, diesel or gasoline buses, or other forms of common carriers.

2-14. "Use" includes storage, and includes the exercise of any right or power over tangible personal property incident to the ownership of that property, except that it does not include the sale of that property at a retail sale.

"Storage" includes any keeping or retention in this Province for any purpose except retail sale or subsequent use outside this Province of tangible personal property purchased from a vendor.

"Use" and "storage" shall not include the keeping, retaining, or exercising of any right or power over tangible personal property shipped or brought into the Province for the purpose of subsequently transporting it outside the Province for use thereafter solely outside the Province, or for the purpose of being processed, fabricated, or manufactured into, attached to, or incorporated into other tangible personal property to be transported outside of the Province and thereafter used solely outside the Province.

2-15. "Insecticides" includes disinfectants.

2-16. "Dentist" means a person legally qualified and entitled to practise the profession of dentistry in the Province.

2-17. "Physician" means a legally qualified medical practitioner.

2-18. "Prescription" means a formula or direction given by a physician, a dentist, or a veterinarian of a remedy for or as treatment for a disease or disorder, prescribing the ingredients with or without the method of using.

2-19. "Veterinarian" means a person duly qualified and registered under the "Veterinary Act."

2-20. "Optometrist" means a person authorized to practise optometry under the provisions of the "Optometry Act."

3. APPLICATION OF TAX.

3-1. In the case of transactions held by the Commissioner to be in lieu of transfer of title, exchange, or barter, the tax shall be calculated on the rental price of all tangible personal property which is leased or rented instead of sold, and such tax shall be collected at the time of payment of the rental price.

3-2. The expression "as part of one transaction," occurring in section 3 (6) of the Act, shall not include a transaction or transactions where several articles are purchased from different departments of the same vendor.

3-3. In the case of periodicals, newspapers, and other similar publications, where the price of a single copy is less than fifteen cents and therefore not taxable, subscriptions to the same shall also be exempt from the tax.

3-4. When a vendor purchases tangible personal property which he alleges is for purposes of resale, he shall supply the person selling such tangible personal property with the number of his registration certificate, and this number shall be noted on the invoice and in the seller's books and all other records kept in connection with the sale so made. Failure to furnish such a number shall make payment of the tax necessary, and recovery may be made in accordance with subsection (2) of section 3 of the Act; provided, however, that prior to the first registration under the Act the seller may supply tangible personal property to a vendor who, in his opinion and subject to the approval of the Commissioner where he deems it necessary, is purchasing for resale and not for consumption or use without the notation of a registration certificate number. Where a vendor purchases tangible personal property for consumption or use in the exercise of his business, he shall pay the tax on such tangible personal property, unless in possession of the special registration certificate as provided in Regulation 4-7.

3-5. Where a person selling tangible personal property to a person claiming the purchase is not taxable under the Act is not satisfied as to the legitimacy of the claim, he shall require the person to pay the tax. The purchaser may apply to the Minister, who, on receipt of satisfactory evidence that the tax should not have been paid, shall grant a refund.

3-6. A vendor who resells tangible personal property before making any use thereof (other than retention, demonstration, or display while holding it for sale in the regular course of business) may apply for a refund under section 3 (2) of the Act upon production of satisfactory evidence that the tax was wrongly paid. The refund shall be made upon receipt of satisfactory evidence by the Commissioner in the form provided for such purpose. This procedure should be used in any of the following circumstances:—

- (a) The vendor, when making the purchase, intends to use the property rather than resell it, but later resells it before making any use thereof:
- (b) The particular property is of a kind not ordinarily sold or stocked by the vendor and not customarily covered by resale certificates given to his suppliers and is the subject of an unusual sale, such as a sale for the accommodation of a customer, employee, etc.:
- (c) The particular property is generally for the consumption or use of the vendor, but a small portion is incidentally resold:
- (d) Through error, tax is paid by the vendor with respect to the purchase price of property purchased for resale in the regular course of business.

3-7. Wood, when used as fuel, is exempt from the application of the tax.

3-8. Draught beer, when sold by the glass on licensed premises, is exempt from the application of the tax.

4. REGISTRATION.

4-1. Where a vendor carries on business at more than one place, he shall obtain a registration certificate in respect of each individual place of business. The registration certificate shall be displayed in a prominent place on the premises; provided that in cases where a vendor has no fixed place of business in the Province, he shall keep his certificate on his person at all times while doing business and produce it upon request to a purchaser or a duly authorized representative of the Commissioner.

4-2. Where agents make sales on behalf of a principal and do not have any fixed place of business, a registration certificate shall be obtained for each agent. In such cases, the agent shall keep the certificate on his person at all times while doing business and produce it upon request to a purchaser or a duly authorized representative of the Commissioner.

4-3. Where a vendor changes his address, he shall forthwith return his registration certificate to the Commissioner for amendment.

4-4. Where a vendor changes the name or nature of his business, he shall forthwith return his registration certificate to the Commissioner and apply for a new one.

4-5. Where a vendor ceases to carry on business in respect of which a registration certificate has been issued, the certificate shall thereupon be void and he shall return the same to the Commissioner within fifteen days of the date of discontinuance.

4-6. Where a registration certificate is lost or destroyed, application shall immediately be made to the Commissioner for a copy of the original.

4-7. (1) Merchandise purchased for Resale.—Holders of registration certificates shall use the registration certificate numbers in accordance with Regulation 3-4 to purchase, free of tax, merchandise for resale purposes or merchandise which will become part of tangible personal property intended for resale in accordance with section 5, clause (h), of the Act.

Such persons shall at the time of each purchase quote their registration certificate number. Persons not required to collect tax on tangible personal property sold to holders of registration certificates shall justify the non-collection of the tax by showing on their invoices the numbers of the registration certificates of the purchasers to whom the tangible personal property was sold free of tax. In case of doubt as to the purpose for which the merchandise is purchased by the holder of a vendor's certificate, manufacturers, wholesalers, distributors, and all vendors may require a written confirmation from the purchaser to the effect that the merchandise purchased under the registration number is for resale purposes or further incorporation into other merchandise for resale purposes.

In the event of the purchaser not being in possession of a vendor's registration certificate, in order to obtain the tangible personal property tax free to be in accordance with the purposes as stated above, he shall supply the person selling the tangible personal property with a certificate in the form following:—

I, _____

do hereby certify that I do not hold a vendor's registration certificate issued pursuant to section 4 (1) of the "Social Security and Municipal Aid Tax Act" and that the tangible personal property described herein, which I shall purchase from _____, will be resold or will become part of tangible personal property for resale purposes. I further state that in the event that such property is used for any purpose other than that as stated herein, I will remit the tax due under the Act.

Description of tangible personal property purchased and price thereof:—

Dated _____, 19____, at _____

(Signature) _____

(Address) _____

As an alternative to the use of the above certificate, manufacturers, wholesalers, distributors, and all vendors may, on application to the Commissioner, obtain permission to use a rubber stamp substantially in the form following:—

Resale exemption claimed and allowed under Regulation 4-7 (1) of the "Social Security and Municipal Aid Tax Act" where no registration certificate held.

Date _____, 19____

(Signature) _____

This stamp must be placed on all copies of invoices, etc., where applicable and signed on behalf of the manufacturer, wholesaler, distributor, or vendor allowing the exemption.

Every person who is the agent of the Minister under section 6 of the Act shall, in accepting the certificate or allowing an exemption, satisfy himself that the claim is legitimate and the requirements of the Act are being fulfilled. Holders of registration certificates who utilize their registration number to purchase, free of tax, merchandise that ultimately is not resold or incorporated into other merchandise for resale purposes, but is consumed or used in the course of their business, shall show on their monthly returns the value of such property and shall remit the tax due as soon as the same is so used or consumed.

(2) Merchandise purchased for Consumption or Use.—No holder of a registration certificate shall use his certificate to purchase, free of tax, merchandise of which he is the ultimate consumer or user.

Manufacturers, wholesalers, distributors, and all vendors shall collect the tax when they sell tangible personal property for the ultimate consumption or use of the purchaser.

Provided, however, that the holders of registration certificates, the number of which is identified by the prefix "7," and vendors of this type filing a consolidated return whose certificates are identified by the prefix "8," may use their registration certificates to purchase, free of tax, merchandise for resale purposes and merchandise of which they are the ultimate consumers or users. These holders of registration certificates will declare, through the medium of their monthly tax returns, the value of the merchandise purchased for their own consumption or use and will remit direct to the Minister the tax due on such purchases. In the case of purchases made outside the Province, the tax shall be remitted to the Minister along with all invoices, etc., in accordance with subsection (3) of section 3 of the Act and section 5-10 of the regulations upon receipt of such tangible personal property delivered within the Province.

5. RETURNS AND RECORDS.

5-1. (a) The Commissioner may at any time require a return of retail sales of tangible personal property and tax collected by any person selling tangible personal property, such return to cover any period or periods.

(b) Subject to the provisions of subsection (a), unless otherwise provided, all vendors shall make separate monthly returns to the Commissioner. However, the first return under this section shall be made for the two-month period first following the coming into force of the Act.

5-2. The returns by vendors shall be made to the Commissioner at the end of the reportable period, but not later than twenty days after the last day of each period.

5-3. A separate return shall be made for each place of business unless a consolidated return has been approved by the Commissioner. In cases where a consolidated return has been approved, the account number will be allotted the prefix "9," except in those cases under Regulation 4-7 (2) where vendors of this type making consolidated returns will be allotted the prefix "8."

5-4. If a vendor during the preceding period has collected no tax, he shall nevertheless make a report to that effect on the prescribed return form.

5-5. When a vendor disposes of or discontinues his business, he shall, not later than fifteen days thereafter, advise the Commissioner of the particulars and submit his registration certificate for cancellation and make a return for the period unreported.

5-6. Vendors shall report in the authorized returns, and shall pay tax in respect of all items of tangible personal property purchased or taken out of stock by themselves for their own consumption or use, and shall collect tax from their employees in respect of tangible personal property supplied to them out of stock where such have not been included as a retail sale.

5-7. All persons other than vendors who sell tangible personal property shall immediately report the sale to the Commissioner and remit the tax thereon, including all items of tangible personal property purchased tax free or taken out of stock by themselves for their own consumption or use, and shall collect tax from their employees in respect of tangible personal property supplied to them out of stock where such have not otherwise been reported.

In addition, all persons who solicit orders for the sale of tangible personal property, the consumption or use of which is taxable under the Act, shall file returns concerning such sales with the Commissioner. Such returns shall be filed immediately after the end of each month, and in no case later than twenty days after the close of the reportable period. The returns shall contain the following information:—

- (a) The name and address of each purchaser from whom an order is taken;
- (b) The description and sales price of the tangible personal property sold or to be sold pursuant to such order;
- (c) The date upon which the order is taken;
- (d) The date as nearly as can be determined at which the tangible personal property is to be delivered to the purchaser.

5-8. The Minister may make an allowance to vendors for their services in collecting and forwarding the tax to the Province equal to three per centum of the amount of the tax collected; provided, however, on the recommendation of the Commissioner, the Minister may disallow the remuneration in case the return is not filed within the time permitted under the regulations.

5-9. The amount of the tax collected as shown by the return, less authorized deductions, shall be remitted to the Commissioner at Victoria, except in those cases where payment is made direct to a person appointed by the Commissioner, who shall issue an interim receipt. Remittance shall be made by cheque, bank, express, or postal money-order; postal note; or cash.

5-10. (a) Every person other than a vendor liable to pay tax under provisions of subsection (3) of section 3 of the Act shall make a return to the Commissioner on the form provided for such purpose, or in such other form as may be satisfactory to the Commissioner.

(b) In the case of a vendor, returns under this regulation shall be made at the times prescribed in Regulation 5-2, and in the case of all other persons they shall be made forthwith after tangible personal property has been received or brought into the Province.

5-11. (a.) Every vendor shall keep books of account, records, and documents sufficient to furnish the Commissioner with the necessary particulars of:—

- (i) Sales of tangible personal property;
- (ii) Tangible personal property purchased or taken from stock by the vendor for his own consumption or use or supplied to his employees where such have not been included as retail sales;
- (iii) Non-taxable sales of tangible personal property, including sales for resale, discounts, refunds, and exemptions;
- (iv) Taxable sales of tangible personal property;
- (v) Amount of tax collected;
- (vi) Disposal of tax, including commission taken.

(b) All entries concerning the tax in such books of account, records, and documents shall be separate and distinguishable from other entries made therein.

5-12. Where a receipt, bill, invoice, or other document is issued by a person selling tangible personal property at a retail sale, the tax shall be shown as a separate item thereon.

5-13. Where, for the purpose of accounting for the tax collected, a receipt for the amount of tax is issued by the vendor, it shall be in a form satisfactory to the Commissioner.

5-14. Every person shall preserve all books of account, records, and documents required under the Act until such time as the Commissioner may authorize their destruction.

5-15. If a person fails or refuses to keep books of account, records, and documents adequate for the purposes under the Act, the Commissioner may require such person to keep such books of account, records, and documents as he may prescribe.

5-16. Where tangible personal property is sold on credit, either under conditional sale or lease contracts or otherwise, the purchaser or user is taxable on the whole amount of the contract price and subject to the provisions of section 3 (5) of the Act; the tax shall be imposed and collected when the contract is entered into or the purchase made.

6. GENERAL.

6-1. (a) The Commissioner shall be appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council in accordance with the provisions of the "Civil Service Act."

(b) Such other officials, clerks, etc., as may be necessary for the proper administration of the Act shall be appointed by the Civil Service Commission in accordance with the provisions of the "Civil Service Act." 3847-je24

SALE, INSTALLATION, AND USE OF OIL-BURNERS AND OIL-BURNING EQUIPMENT.

2. No person shall sell, offer for sale, or install any oil-burner or oil-burning equipment unless the same has been approved by the Fire Marshal. No person shall operate or use any oil-burner or oil-burning equipment installed after the first day of August, 1933, unless the same has been installed in compliance with these regulations. This regulation shall not apply to brooder oil-burners.

3. It shall be the duty of every person, before offering for sale or selling an oil-burner or oil-burning equipment, to file with the Fire Marshal a statement showing the name of the manufacturer and the trade-name thereof, together with a certificate of approval if any has been obtained from an authority acceptable to the Fire Marshal, and any other information the Fire Marshal may require.

4. The Fire Marshal may at his discretion require that any oil-burner or oil-burning equipment be submitted to the laboratories of the Canadian Standards Association for test and approval before his approval is given.

In the case of any dispute as to the safety of any oil-burner or oil-burning equipment the decision of said laboratories will be final.

5. No oil-burner or oil-burning equipment shall be installed without first obtaining a permit in writing from an officer. Every application for such permit shall be in writing and shall show the trade-name of the oil-burner or oil-burning equipment and the name and qualification of the person installing it. Such qualification must be satisfactory to the officer. No permit shall be necessary in the case of portable oil-burning equipment which does not require to be connected to a chimney. This regulation shall not apply to brooder oil-burners.

6. (a) It shall be the duty of every person supplying oil fuel for use in any oil-burner or oil-burning equipment to ascertain the correct grade of oil fuel for which the oil-burner or oil-burning equipment has been approved, and no person shall supply for use in any oil-burner or oil-burning equipment oil fuel of a grade other than that for which it has been approved. No person shall supply for use or use any crank-case oil as oil fuel in any oil-burner.

(b) No person in charge of oil-burners or oil-burning equipment shall permit:—

- (1) Any accumulation of oil by leakage or other cause in any furnace-pit, fire-box, or on basement or boiler-room floor.
- (2) The nozzle of the oil-burner to become covered with carbon or dirt.
- (3) The fire-box to have an excessive deposit of carbon, or allow any carbon or refuse to form within two-thirds of the distance between the nozzle and any part of the fire-box. Any deposit so forming shall be immediately removed and the cause remedied.
- (4) Any piping or glands in connection with an oil-burner or oil-burning equipment to become loose or leaky.
- (5) Any oil-burner to get into a state of disrepair.

- (7) The use of any oil-burner or oil-burning equipment unless there is ample intake of air to allow for the correct combustion of the fuel.

(c) Where strict compliance with the requirements of these regulations with respect to the manner of installation or operation is not practicable, the officer may, with the consent of the Fire Marshal, allow such deviation as may be necessary, provided that a measure of safety equivalent to that contained in these regulations is assured.

INSTALLATION OF TANKS, PIPING, ETC., FOR COMMERCIAL OIL-BURNERS.

7. All tanks used in connection with oil-burners shall be buried underground, except as otherwise provided by Regulation 11 (a), (b), and (c), and shall be so buried that the top of the tank is not less than three feet below the surface of the ground. All tanks which are designed for or are used as underground storage for oil fuel shall be made of galvanized steel, open-hearth steel, or wrought iron, and shall have the seams thereof riveted and caulked, braze-welded, or electro-welded in such a manner that the seam-joint shall be mechanically and hydraulically tight. All such tanks shall be made rust-proof by being dipped in or painted with at least one thick coat of asphaltum or other rust-resisting paint.

8. Nothing in these regulations shall be construed to prohibit the use, for the storage of oil fuel having a specific gravity heavier than thirty-five degrees Baumé, of water-proofed reinforced-concrete tanks, the plans and specifications of which have been submitted to the Fire Marshal for approval and have been approved by him.

9. The weight of metal used in the construction of metallic tanks shall be based upon the following table:—

Capacity in Gallons.	Minimum Thickness of Metal, British Standard Gauge.	Medium Weight per Square Foot.	Maximum Diameter in Inches.	Maximum Length of Cylinder in Feet.
1 to 467	14	3.125	54	10
468 to 917	12	4.375	68	12
918 to 3,333	7	7.50	105	18
3,334 to 10,000	¼	10.00	132	24
10,001 to 16,667	⅝	12.50	132	30
16,668 to 25,000	¾	15.00	132	35

10. Wherever practicable, tanks shall be located underground and not less than four feet from any building. Where this is impracticable the capacity of each tank shall depend on the location of the tank with respect to the adjacent building. If the top of the tank is underground and below the level of the lowest floor, basement, pit, or cellar of the building, it shall be located not less than four feet from the building; and the maximum capacity shall be based upon the following table:—

Minimum Distance from Building.	Capacity, Gallons.
4 feet	2,600
7 "	4,000
11 "	10,000
21 "	50,000

If the top of the tank is above the lowest floor, basement, pit, or cellar of the building, it shall be located not less than eight feet from the building; and the maximum capacity shall be based upon the following table:—

Minimum Distance from Building.	Capacity, Gallons.
8 feet	2,600
13 "	4,000
21 "	10,000
41 "	50,000
50 " and over	100,000

11. Wherever practicable, tanks shall be installed as shown above. When it is impracticable so to install them, they may be installed as follows:—

- (a) Under the building, so buried that there is not less than two feet of earth between the top of the tank and the underside of the four-inch concrete slab floor of the building. If there is no concrete slab floor, a protecting slab of concrete not less than four inches thick shall extend one foot beyond the tank on all sides.
- (b) Outside or inside the basement of the building, enclosed in a concrete vault having concrete sides of not less than eight inches in thickness placed not less than twelve inches away from all parts of the tank to be enclosed and carried not less than one foot above the tank, the enclosure to be covered by a reinforced-concrete slab not less than six inches in thickness. All spaces around the tank shall be completely filled with sand securely tamped into place. The capacity of the tank so installed shall in no case exceed seven hundred and fifty gallons.
- (c) On or near the surface, providing, however, that special permission from the Fire Marshal will be required by the installer in such case.

12. No tank shall be covered in or buried before it and all its fittings have been inspected and approved by an officer.

13. No tank shall be located under any driveway, unless protected by a reinforced-concrete slab or other equivalent method of resisting the downward pressure to which it may from time to time be subjected.

14. The piping in connection with every tank shall be done in a neat, workmanlike manner. Approved fittings shall be used to connect all piping to the tank. Unions shall be of a self-sealing type or of a type using an insoluble packing. The use of right and left couplings, running threads, and lock-nuts shall not be permitted. All joints shall be painted with a heavy coat of rust-resisting lead paint mixed with glycerine before putting them together. Measurement test-pipes shall be located outside of buildings, unless fitted with an approved gas-tight cover.

15. (a) The fill-pipe for any tank shall not extend higher above the top of the tank than is necessary for filling purposes. The number of turns or offsets in any fill-pipe shall not exceed in value three right-angle bends.

(b) The top of the fill-pipe shall be covered with an approved cap, and the location of fill-pipe shall be subject to the approval of the officer, but in every case shall be located outside the building.

(c) Where more than one tank is used on the same installation there shall be a separate fill-pipe for each tank, and there shall be no interconnection which will permit the flow of oil fuel from one tank to another unless a drawing which shows the arrangement of piping and valves has first been approved by the Fire Marshal.

16. Every tank shall have a vent-pipe having an internal diameter of not less than the following:—

Capacity of Tank, Gallons.	Diameter of Pipe, Inches.
55 to 3,000.....	1 ¼
3,001 to 10,000.....	1 ½
10,001 and over.....	2

The vent-pipe shall extend into the tank not more than one inch and shall be installed so that there shall be a general drain-back towards the tank and no trap or sag throughout the length thereof. The upper end of the vent-pipe shall be not less than ten feet above the ground-level and shall be fitted with a return elbow. The vent-pipe shall not terminate within three feet either way from any window, door, or other opening.

17. Where any tank is so located that the top of said tank is above the level of the oil-burner, an approved anti-siphoning leg or device shall be installed above the level of such tank. An approved shut-off valve shall be installed at the point where the supply-line enters the premises. The difference in level between the top of the tank and the oil-burner shall in no case be greater than ten feet. Where an anti-siphoning leg is used, the internal diameter of the leg shall be not less than four times the internal diameter of the supply-pipe, and in no case less than two inches. The top of the leg shall in no case be less than eighteen inches nor more than twenty-four inches above the top of the tank. The leg shall extend in length to a point below the oil-burner.

18. In all cases where oil fuel is delivered to oil-burners by means of pumping devices there shall be a return overflow-pipe which in no case shall be of a less diameter than that of the supply-line, and in the case of tanks located above the level of the oil-burner the overflow-pipe shall not extend more than one inch into the top of the tank; provided, however, that in the case of vacuum-control oil-burning equipment the Fire Marshal may in writing waive the installation of the overflow-pipe.

19. No measuring-gauge or other device which is constructed wholly or partly of glass shall be installed on the pressure side of any oil-fuel pump or on the suction side of any oil-fuel pump below the elevation of the top of the tank.

20. Between the tank and the oil-burner an easily accessible strainer unit shall be installed.

21. No gravity-tank and no oil-burner to which oil fuel is supplied by gravity-flow shall be installed in any building any part of which is used as an apartment-house, hotel, school, hospital, place of refuge or detention, theatre, or other place of public assembly, or in a department store, or in any building built over any tidal water or any navigable stream or lake, except by special permission given in writing by the Fire Marshal setting forth the conditions under which the permit is granted.

22. All piping connecting any oil-burner with the tank shall be adequately protected from the direct heat of the oil-burner.

23. All piping from any tank shall be brought out from the top of the tank, except the piping for gravity-feed oil-burners.

24. The installation of the piping in all oil-burning equipment shall be made so that the piping is protected from mechanical injury while also being easily accessible. Underground piping shall be laid on firm ground in a trench in which there is no other piping except piping used to conduct warm water or steam to heat the tank.

25. Where necessary, heating of tanks shall be done by steam or hot-water heaters which shall be of substantial construction, having all joints steam- or oil-tight; or by electric heaters approved for the purpose. When heaters are used, tanks shall be provided with a temperature-indicating device to show at all times the temperature of the oil in the tank. The temperature of the oil shall in no case exceed 120 degrees Fahr.

26. All commercial oil-burners, whether installed prior to this regulation coming into force or to be installed hereafter, shall be equipped with approved automatic apparatus which shall shut down the pumping equipment to stop the flow of oil fuel to the burner in case of accident.

INSTALLATION OF COMMERCIAL OIL-BURNERS.

27. The burner mechanism shall be so designed that the orifice cannot become enlarged and so that the needle-valve cannot be unscrewed and removed after the oil-burner is in operation.

28. The burner mechanism shall be mounted securely in such a manner that no weight is taken by the piping or wiring.

29. An inspection opening not less than two inches in diameter so located as to give a view of the interior of the combustion-chamber shall be provided. Every inspection opening shall have a cover.

30. The burner mechanism shall be capable of being easily cleaned and adjusted.

31. A manually operated shut-off valve shall be located on the oil-fuel feed-line close to the burner mechanism.

32. No oil-burner shall be installed in connection with any hot-air furnace, hot-water or steam boiler unless the furnace or boiler is mounted on an incombustible base; or, if on a wooden floor, unless the floor is protected by an incombustible covering not less than twelve inches in thickness, composed of one layer not less than two inches in thickness of concrete, over which shall be a layer of six-inch hollow tile laid in cement mortar in such a way that the ducts of the tile will form continuous air-spaces from end to end, and a third layer consisting of firebrick laid in fireclay. This floor-covering shall extend beyond the sides and ends of the furnace or boiler a distance of not less than eighteen inches.

33. Dampers which entirely close the chimney uptake are prohibited. Damper area shall be carefully determined in each case, but shall not be greater than eighty per centum of the internal cross-sectional area of the uptake.

34. The chimney into which the smoke-pipe from any commercial oil-burner feeds shall be of sufficient cross-sectional area and height to give adequate draught to ensure the proper operation of the oil-burner. This chimney in the case of industrial plants may be of sheet metal of sufficient weight and thickness to form a rigid stack. Under all other conditions the chimney shall conform to the requirements of the Regulations governing the Construction, Installation, and Maintenance of Chimneys, etc., made pursuant to the "Fire Marshal Act."

35. The heating plant in connection with oil-burners, if installed on or before November 27th, 1934, in any hotel or public building as defined by the "Fire Marshal Act," shall be enclosed or suitably protected to the satisfaction of an officer to prevent the spread of fire, and if installed after that date shall be enclosed in accordance with the regulations for furnace chambers made pursuant to the "Fire Marshal Act."

INSTALLATION OF TANKS, PIPING, ETC., FOR DOMESTIC OIL-BURNERS.

36. The provisions hereinbefore laid down in Regulations 7 to 26, inclusive, for commercial oil-burners shall apply as well to domestic oil-burners, except in the case of gravity-feed domestic installations, in which case the following provisions shall apply:—

- (a) No gravity-tank from which the oil fuel is fed to any domestic oil-burner shall have a capacity of more than fifty-five gallons. Not more than one such tank shall be connected to any domestic oil-burner.
- (b) Every gravity-feed tank in excess of six gallons connected to a domestic oil-burner shall be made and installed in full compliance with Regulation 41 (c) (3). Domestic oil-burners, if installed on or before November 27th, 1934, shall be connected to a chimney of concrete, brick, or masonry construction, but if installed after that date the chimney shall comply with the regulations made pursuant to the "Fire Marshal Act" governing the construction of chimneys.

INSTALLATION OF RANGE OIL-BURNERS.

40. The following general provisions shall apply in respect of the installation and maintenance of range oil-burners:—

- (a) No range oil-burner shall be installed in any hotel or public building as defined by the "Fire Marshal Act," or in any building over tidal or navigable water, except under special conditions approved in writing by an officer.
- (b) Every range oil-burner shall bear the approval of the Canadian Standards Association, the Underwriters Laboratories, or other recognized authority acceptable to the Fire Marshal, and no range oil-burner shall be installed, operated, or used unless the oil fuel used therein is of a specific gravity and specification approved by the Canadian Standards Association, the Underwriters Laboratories, or other recognized authority.
- (c) In the case of natural-draught range oil-burners, positive bottom ventilation and adequate air-supply shall be provided by permanently securing the air-regulating device on the front of the range or furnace in which the range oil-burner is installed in an open position, and all smoke-pipes, flues, and flue-passages shall be thoroughly cleaned before the range oil-burner is installed. No smoke-pipe damper which cuts off more than eighty per centum of the smoke-pipe area shall be installed or maintained.
- (d) All cracks, chinks, and other openings in the combustion-chamber of the range or furnace shall be sealed with fireclay in such a manner that there is no opening connecting therewith, except those leading to the ventilation air-supply, the smoke-pipe, and the oil-fuel feed-line.
- (e) The clear distance between the smoke-pipe and any woodwork or other combustible construction shall in no case be less than nine inches, and the range or furnace shall be so set that no woodwork or other combustible construction will be exposed to temperatures sufficiently great to cause damage thereto.
- (f) All electrical devices used for preheating or igniting range oil-burners shall be installed in full compliance with the Canadian Electrical Code as adopted in the Province of British Columbia, with variations, under the provisions of the "Electrical Energy Inspection Act." No gasoline or other highly volatile inflammable liquid shall be used for priming a range oil-burner, and only the device supplied by the manufacturer of the range oil-burner shall be used for igniting it.

- (g) A card with complete instructions for the operation of the range oil-burner printed thereon in legible type shall be posted up in a conspicuous place near each range oil-burner.
- (h) Every range oil-burner of a gravity-feed type shall be connected to a chimney of a construction approved by an officer.
41. The following special provisions shall apply in respect of the installation of range oil-burners for use in ranges:—

(a) (1) In case of vacuum-control feed, the supply-tank shall not exceed three gallons in capacity, and shall be equipped with a positive indicating device which shows clearly at all times the amount of oil fuel in the tank. The supply-tank shall be so mounted as to present a rigid structure capable of withstanding external shocks and ordinary service abuse. After the first day of August, 1934, no vacuum-control feed supply-tank shall be installed or used unless it is constructed of metal of not less than 24-gauge (B.S.G.). Except in the case of approved circulating heaters having a fuel-container attached to the side of the heater, the supply-tank shall be located not less than two feet from the range, provided, however, that under special conditions an officer may permit it to be nearer the range if an approved non-combustible shield is installed between the range and supply-tank.

(2) Every gravity-feed supply-tank having a capacity of not more than six gallons shall be constructed of terne plate metal of not less than 24 gauge or ordinary sheet iron of not less than 20 gauge (B.S.G.), and shall be rigidly mounted on an incombustible stand and shall be an integral part of the system. The supply opening to such tank shall be not less than four inches nor more than six inches in diameter and shall be covered by an approved tight-fitting cover in which there is a breather-hole of one-sixteenth of an inch in diameter. This cover shall be secured to the tank. Unless otherwise approved, this gravity-tank shall be located not less than two feet from the burner.

(3) Every gravity-feed supply-tank having a capacity of more than six-gallons shall be made of galvanized or wrought iron of not less than 16 gauge (B.S.G.), and shall have all seams riveted and caulked, braze-welded, or electrically welded so as to be mechanically and hydraulically tight. This tank shall be equipped with an outside vent-pipe of not less than three-quarters of an inch internal diameter which shall rise to a height of not less than ten feet above the ground-level and shall be equipped with a return bend. This vent shall not come closer than three feet to any door, window, or other opening to the building. The opening for filling shall be on the upper-side of the tank and shall be equipped with a screw plug or cap which, except when the tank is being filled, shall be kept tightly screwed in place. The internal diameter of this fill opening shall be not less than two inches.

(4) When oil fuel is filled into a supply-tank from an oil-tank wagon, it shall be done by an approved hose equipped with an approved automatic shut-off nozzle so adjusted that when the operator's hand is removed the flow of oil fuel will be cut off, or by means of an approved can. When oil fuel is delivered in drums, the liquids shall be pumped from the drum to the supply-tank by an approved pump. No oil fuel shall be delivered from the drum to the supply-tank by means of open can or bucket.

(b) The oil-fuel feed-line shall enter the range through a hole drilled in the casing, and shall be of copper or brass tubing of not less than five-sixteenths of an inch outside diameter and having a wall thickness of not less than forty-nine one-thousandths of an inch, or of standard full-weight galvanized iron, steel, or brass pipe of not less than one-quarter of an inch or more than one-half of an inch inside diameter. The tubing or piping shall be installed in a rigid manner sufficient to withstand external shocks and ordinary service abuse. In case of vacuum-control feed, there shall be a control-valve located at a level not less than one inch below the level of the burner base and not less than one inch below the level of the supply-tank; and in all other cases there shall be a constant-level control-valve of an approved type installed in such a manner as to maintain the required level of the oil fuel in the burner base. In all cases the control-valve shall be rigidly supported in a manner that will not cause strain to be put on the oil-fuel feed-line.

(c) (1) In the case of shell- or wick-type range oil-burners the oil-burner base shall be made and rigidly set at the proper level by reinforcing the bottom of the range by a piece of sheet metal not less than eight inches wide, ten inches long, and one-eighth of an inch thick, held in place by the burner bolts which shall be secured in place by lock-nuts.

(2) In the case of vacuum-control feed the oil-fuel flow-level shall be so made as to permit the control-valve to be kept fully open for twenty minutes without overflowing the burner base. When the proper level is secured by adjusting the oil-burner base and the supply-tank stand, both of these shall be securely set and locked in position.

(3) In the case of gravity-feed oil-burners which have not had the constant-level valves set at the factory, the levelling shall be done as above.

(d) (1) All inside storage-tanks shall be located on the lowest floor of the building. Storage-tanks shall be limited in capacity to fifty-five gallons, and not more than one such tank shall be located in any occupied building. Storage-tanks located in buildings shall be equipped with a vent-pipe as hereinbefore set out.

(2) Full drums located outside of buildings shall have bung-holes securely fastened shut. All empty or partially filled storage-tanks, wherever located, shall be vented.

(e) For the purpose of transferring oil fuel from any storage-tank to any supply-tank, an approved pump which shall be deemed to be a component part of the oil-burning equipment shall be used. If the supply-tank is so mounted as to be immovable, the oil fuel shall be conveyed in an approved closed metal can. No faucet, spigot, or other gravity-flow device and no siphon shall be used for the purpose of drawing oil fuel from the storage-tank.

(f) (1) No supply-tank for the purpose of supplying oil fuel to an oil-burning range having a capacity in excess of six gallons shall be allowed in any multiple-residence building.

(2) Supply-tanks exceeding six gallons but not exceeding fifty-five gallons in capacity used to supply oil to range oil-burners in ranges in single-residence buildings shall be mounted on rigid metal stands on the outside of the building. These stands shall be constructed from solid foundations on the ground in such a manner that the supply-tank shall be not less than six inches from the wall at its nearest point. Where more than one supply-tank is used, such tanks shall be connected to the feed-pipe leading to the burner through a manually operated, approved three-way valve in such a manner that only one tank can discharge its contents at any one time. In all such cases the aggregate capacity shall not exceed one hundred and ten gallons. Each tank shall be equipped with a vent and fill pipe as hereinbefore set out. It also shall be equipped with an approved shut-off valve where the oil-feed line leaves the tank. The oil fuel shall be fed to the oil-burner only through an approved constant-level valve. The difference in height between the supply-tank and the constant-level valve shall not exceed ten feet.

- (g) Approved automatic electric pumps may be used in connection with range oil-burners to supply them with oil fuel from storage-tanks located either in the basement or buried underground. Underground tanks shall be installed in full compliance with Regulations 7 to 26 of these regulations.

42. The following special provisions shall apply in respect of the installation of range oil-burners for use in furnaces:—

- (a) Not more than one range oil-burner of any type shall be installed in any furnace.
- (b) In case of vacuum-control feed, the supply-tanks connected to the range oil-burners in any furnace shall not exceed two in number, nor shall a supply-tank exceed three gallons in capacity. In all other cases the supply-tank shall not exceed fifty-five gallons in capacity and not more than one such tank in excess of six gallons shall be allowed in any building.
- (c) (1) No supply-tank having a capacity of more than six gallons used in connection with a range oil-burner installed in a furnace shall be located above the lowest floor of any building. This supply-tank shall be made and equipped in full compliance with the requirements of Regulation 41 (a) (3). It shall be mounted on a rigid metal stand, and the difference between the height of the supply-tank and the constant-level valve shall not exceed ten feet.

(2) No supply-tank having a capacity of more than six gallons used in connection with a range oil-burner installed in a furnace in a multiple-residence building shall be located in the building. It shall be installed outside the building in full compliance with the regulations governing storage-tanks for said buildings hereinbefore laid down. The difference in height between the tank and the constant-level valve shall not exceed ten feet.

- (d) The following safety combustion controls shall be installed in connection with any range oil-burner installed in any furnace: An approved constant-level valve, a heat-limiting device on the air or water of the furnace, and in the case of electric spark or city gas pilot ignition a stack lockout switch shall also be installed. All these shall be mounted neatly and in a workmanlike manner.
- (e) The oil-fuel feed-line from the supply-tank to the constant-level control-valve shall be of standard full-weight galvanized iron or brass pipe of not less than one-quarter of an inch or more than one-half of an inch inside diameter, and shall have a positive shut-off valve at the supply-tank and an approved strainer at or near the constant-level control-valve. The oil-fuel feed-line from the constant-level control valve to the oil-burner may be either of standard full-weight galvanized iron or brass pipe of not less than one-quarter and not more than one-half of an inch inside diameter, or of brass or copper tubing of not less than five-sixteenths of an inch outside diameter and having a wall thickness of not less than forty-nine one-thousandths of an inch, and shall enter the furnace through a hole drilled in the casing.

- (f) Range oil-burners installed in furnaces commonly known as floor furnaces shall be installed in such a manner as to allow an entrance from the outside of the building to the furnace compartment, not less than twenty-eight inches in width and sixty inches in height. Plans for the installation of floor furnaces may be obtained from the office of the Fire Marshal.

INSTALLATION OF RANGES USING GASOLINE.

43. (a) This regulation shall not apply in respect of gasoline had or kept in the supply-tank of a motor-boat or motor-vehicle for use therein.

(b) No person shall install, operate, or use any range as defined in Regulation 1 in which is used for the purpose of generating heat any inflammable liquid having a flash-point of less than 110 degrees Fahr. (hereinafter referred to as gasoline) without first obtaining a permit therefor under this regulation.

(c) A permit for the purposes of this regulation may be obtained on application in a municipality from a Local Assistant to the Fire Marshal or from an officer duly appointed to enforce the provisions of these regulations, by the Municipal Council or the Board of Commissioners, or in unorganized territory from the Local Assistant to the Fire Marshal for the fire district in which the range is proposed to be installed, operated, or used; provided that, where there is no such officer or in the absence of such officer, application may be made to the Fire Marshal, who may issue a permit.

(d) The person to whom application is made shall not issue a permit unless he is satisfied that:—

- (1) The range is of an approved type;
- (2) The location in which it is proposed to be installed, operated, or used is suitable and free from hazard;
- (3) There are adequate facilities for the storage of gasoline outside and at a reasonable distance from the premises in which it is proposed to install, operate, or use the range;
- (4) The equipment includes a portable gasoline-container of an approved metal safety type.

(e) No person to whom a permit is granted under these regulations shall:—

- (1) Keep or have in his possession or under his control any gasoline exceeding five imperial gallons in quantity unless he is the holder of a permit by which he is authorized to keep or have in his possession or under his control a quantity of gasoline in excess of five imperial gallons;
- (2) Store any gasoline in the premises in which the range is installed, operated, or used, or in any place other than the place approved by the person by whom the permit is issued;
- (3) Transfer or transport any gasoline for use in the range except in a container of an approved metal safety type.

(f) The Fire Marshal may cancel any permit issued under this regulation if he is satisfied that the person to whom a permit has been issued has failed to observe and comply with the provisions of this regulation.

BROODER OIL-BURNERS.

44. The following special provisions shall apply in respect of oil-burners and oil-burning equipment used exclusively for brooder purposes:—

- (a) No brooder oil-burner shall be located within three feet of any wall, partition, or ceiling of other than incombustible construction. Every burner shall be securely fastened to the floor and sufficiently elevated to ensure that no part of the said floor will be subject to a temperature exceeding 120 degrees Fahr. The floor shall be protected by fire-resistive material extending not less than eighteen inches in any direction from the burner.
- (b) The supply-tank, which shall be an integral part of the brooder oil-burner, may be located either inside or outside the building; provided, however, where inside location is desirable the tank shall be fastened securely to the wall, partition, or floor. No supply-tank shall be located within two feet of any oil-burner unless protected by an approved incombustible shield which shall be placed between the supply-tank and the oil-burner. There shall be a shut-off valve provided at a point near where the supply-line leaves the tank, and the tank protected by a fitted cover adequately vented.

- (c) An automatic control-valve, for which the brooder is designed, shall be located in the supply-line.
- (d) Every brooder oil-burner shall be fitted with an overflow-pipe which shall terminate beyond the outside wall of the building containing the oil-burner or oil-burning equipment.
- (e) Oil fuel for use in brooder burners shall be stored in conformity with Regulation 41 (d) (2).
- (f) Oil fuel shall be transferred from the storage-tank to the supply-tank in accordance with Regulation 41 (e).
